

DEMAND ON SOUTHERN PACIFIC It will be for an increase of Wages.

OTHER ROADS INVOLVED, Thirty Thousand Employees on S. P. Are Affected—Leaders of Railway Union Retract About Plans.

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 23.—According to the interview obtained today by a Tribune reporter with the heads of railroad unions and the union members, there will be a demand upon the Southern Pacific within the next 30 days for increased wages, which will affect upward of 20,000 of its employees.

Each of the seven divisions is well represented in the order. The leaders are supporting each other, as well as the organizations in the eastern states. All of the 14,000 men in California either have demanded or will demand increased wages of the Southern Pacific company.

The cause of the demands being made, briefly stated, is the increased cost of living. The men are now receiving 33 to 40 per cent more for house rent and the necessities of life. Their wages, they say, have not increased proportionately, and they are unable to support a family now than it was four years ago. They also state that all the railroads are doing from one-fourth to one-third more business now than formerly, and that their profits are correspondingly larger.

The third reason assigned by the men for wanting better wages is that they are not getting the equipment in use by nearly all the railroads, the train crews and all employees connected with this department are compelled to do more work than they are able to do.

To make good their assertions that the cost of living is higher, and that the railroads are making more money than ever before, the executive committee appointed over a year ago have compiled exhaustive statistics. The cost of food, wearing apparel, house rent and other necessities, for a period of six years is tabulated for the benefit of the heads of the railroads. Statistics showing the exact cost of operation per mile of the railroads and the exact profit received by the companies for each mile have been prepared. The increased profits will be made the basis of the increased demands.

Irish Nationalists Make a Scene. London, Oct. 23.—Another scene was caused by the Irish Nationalists in the house of commons today on identical lines with those which have almost daily marked the present session. The Nationalists bombarded the chief secretary for Ireland, Wyndham, with all kinds of irrelevant questions, and when the speaker turned the attack in this direction, the Nationalists moved an adjournment of the house in order to discuss some triviality which happened during the last session.

When the speaker ruled the motion out of order great disorder followed.

Killed by a Train. New York, Oct. 24.—Just when Ignatz Ruter of Newark was preparing to return to Germany to be reconciled to his brother, with whom he quarreled 34 years ago, he was killed by a train, and his body now lies in the morgue at Orange, N. J.

Several years he was enlisted by officers in the same regiment in the German army. They were members of a wealthy family of the German aristocracy. Fourteen years ago they quarreled, and Ignatz thrust his sword into the body of his brother, inflicting a serious wound. Arrest, confinement and a sentence of seven years imprisonment followed. The wounded man recovered. Ignatz was soon released from the military prison and came to America.

TROOPS SLOWER THAN THE MOB

Latter Hanged Negro Before Former Arrived.

IT WAS THE USUAL CRIME.

Victim Had Attempted a Criminal Assault Upon a White Woman—Jail Was Broken Open.

Tallahassee, Ga., Oct. 23.—Ed Brown, a negro charged with having attempted to criminally assault Mrs. Henry Dees, a white woman, at her home this morning, was taken from the county jail here at 7 o'clock tonight by a mob of 400 men and lynched. Troops had been ordered from Atlanta, but did not arrive until an hour and a half after the negro had been hanged.

Brown was captured a few hours after his attempted crime and was brought to this town and placed in jail. As soon as the news of his capture reached the mob, they hastily formed and marched to the jail and demanded the negro.

Mayor Hutchinson wired Gov. Chandler for troops to be sent to the jail, endeavored to persuade the mob to allow the law to take its course.

Upon learning that troops had been dispatched, the mob stormed the jail and a spot near Mrs. Dees's house, hanged him to a bridge and filled his body with bullets. When the troops arrived they found the body of the dead negro.

Mr. Ojeda, in his address, said that the principal object of the Spanish government was to cultivate those movements of trade and commerce between the two countries which would create mutual solidarity of interests and constitute for the future foundation for the most amicable relations between the two nations. President Roosevelt's reply was in part as follows:

I offer you cordial co-operation in all that you may wish to realize your common desire for lasting and increasingly advantageous intercourse between this republic and the Castilian nation. I am glad to accept the royal letter you bear accrediting you in that capacity.

much higher than prior to that time. The plaintiff imported a lot of country green tea which was admitted to the low that standard, but which was claimed to be too high. The plaintiff attacked the constitutionality of an act that excluded a widows article. That was the first point. The second was that if the tea standard act were constitutional, the secretary of the treasury had acted unreasonably in selecting so high a standard.

The government asked for and was given a verdict on the ground that the plaintiff had not made out a case.

A Wealthy Druggist Suicides. Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 23.—E. C. Ingledue, a wealthy druggist of Dearing, O., jumped through a third-story window of the Pittsburg hotel, Manitou, and died four hours later from his injuries without having regained consciousness. Nearly every bone in his body was broken by the frightful plunge, and his face and hands were badly cut by coming in contact with the broken glass. He did not stop to raise the sash, but jumped through sash and glass at once.

Ingledue came to Manitou last September for the benefit of his health. He did not recuperate as fast as he expected and several months ago became very despondent, telling a number of his friends that he did not believe he ever would be a strong man again.

During the past week he drank considerable in an effort to dispel the melancholia which was settling over him. In speaking to a friend last night he said that he had abandoned all hope of regaining his health, and that a man had better be dead than sick all of the time. He referred touchingly to his wife and three children at Dearing, and said that it was only for their sakes he was keeping up. It is presumed that he became more gloomy than ever during the night and this morning killed himself.

Boy Saves Girl From a Dog. Butte, Mont., Oct. 23.—With courage that would have done credit to any man, Robert J. Bowler, 14 years of age, rescued Mabel Stetson, 7 years old, from a vicious Newfoundland dog in Main street, Meadville. Had it not been for the courage of the lad the little girl would undoubtedly have suffered serious injury. As it was, the teeth of the savage canine entered the calf of her left leg, and her clothing was partially torn from her body. After young Bowler had rescued the girl the dog was killed by a constable who emptied his revolver into the beast.

Prisoner Dies of Hemorrhage. Boulder, Colo., Oct. 23.—With a cry, "Black out, doc!" upon his lips, Charles J. Garwood expired at 6 o'clock this morning in his cell in the county jail, where he was awaiting trial on the charge of breaking open the safe in the depot of the Colorado Southern road last May. Garwood had consumption, and a local physician had been treating him since the first of the month, when he was brought here from Denver. The immediate cause of death was a hemorrhage of the lungs.

Good Roads Convention. Boise, Ida., Oct. 23.—A good roads convention, under the auspices of the public roads division of the United States department of agriculture, was held here today. J. W. Richardson, commissioner for the central states, called the meeting to order and in stating the object of the meeting, said in part:

"The results of our meetings are not measured by the number returned, but by the good that radiates from them. Common roads form the veins for the railroads, the main arteries of commerce, and every state needs good roads. Our efforts are now confined to the educational side, and we are here not with any arbitrary plan, but merely to stimulate a sentiment and kindle a good road movement."

Montana Horse Disease Appears. Helena, Mont., Oct. 23.—State Veterinarian M. E. Travis returned last evening from Cascade county, where he went to examine a horse belonging to Ben Travis, who lives near the town of Cascade. His words are not to be altogether taken for granted, as the veterinarian found it to be a case of the disease known as "Montana horse disease." The veterinarian could learn none of the other horses belonging to Mr. Travis contracted the disease.

AN INDIAN ROMANCE. A "Beautiful" White Girl Weds a Full Blooded Arapahoe. Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 23.—The culmination of a pretty romance occurred at Fort Washack last week when Rev. Sherman Coolidge, a full-blooded Arapahoe Indian, was united in marriage to Miss Grace D. Wetmore, a beautiful New York girl and a member of the smart set of that city. The bride's father is proprietor of the Manhattan hotel in New York and is considered a wealthy man.

Miss Wetmore first met her husband three years ago while on a visit to the agency with a number of friends. Rev. Sherman Coolidge is remarkably well educated and is considered decidedly handsome.

Their friendship was mutual, and after Miss Wetmore returned to New York, Coolidge opened correspondence with her. Miss Wetmore again visited Fort Washack in 1900 and also in 1901, when the Indian divine proposed marriage and was accepted. In the meantime Rev. Coolidge made several trips to New York. Rev. Coolidge was ordained a minister of the Episcopal church in Cheyenne in 1885, since which time he has been doing missionary work among the Shoshones on the Wind River reservation.

After Miss Wetmore was taken captive when a hostage by the Shoshone Indians, which tribe was then at war with the Arapahoes. Later he was adopted by Capt. Coolidge of the Penitentiary and sent to school at Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y. He was later taken in charge by Bishop Whipple of the Episcopal church and sent to school at Fairbank seminary, Minnesota, where he completed his education. He came to Wyoming in the early eighties. He is about 40 years of age and his bride is 25.

"BEGGAR KING OF HOBOKEN." Complaints Made of Police of Agram Against Him. Vienna, Oct. 24.—The police of Agram (capital of Croatia-Slavonia, Hungary) have received complaints from the Croatian colony in New York concerning Peter Modries, who is familiarly known as the "Beggars King of Hoboken" and who was believed to be visiting Agram, his birthplace. Authorities are being asked to help them take steps against their countryman on the ground that the fair name of their colony was disgraced by Modries' "questionable way of making a living." The made investigations and discovered that Modries, accompanied by a young woman, had just sailed on a fast steamer for the United States. They ascertained that the "beggars king" owns two valuable houses in Agram and that he claims to own two tenement houses in Hoboken.
